Launch Plan

Our launch strategy will be phased, beginning with the release of Tokyo Neon and Groovy Mion. These initial collections will be available for minting on our platform, giving early adopters the opportunity to own exclusive Petivrse NFTs. Subsequent collections will be launched over the following months, expanding the catalogue and offering new themes and styles for our community to explore and collect.

Community Engagement

Petivrse is more than a marketplace; it is a community-driven project. We encourage NFT collectors, pet lovers, and conservation enthusiasts to join us in our mission. Our social media channels (Twitter, Instagram, and Discord) will be the primary hubs for updates, community discussions, and exclusive events. We aim to build a supportive and interactive community that grows alongside Petivrse, rewarding engagement and participation with exclusive drops, early access to collections, and special giveaways.

The $Peti Token

As part of our long-term vision, Petivrse will introduce the $Peti token, designed to enhance our ecosystem and mission. The token will enable our community to participate in charitable initiatives for both humans and animals in need, aligning with our core value of giving back. Holders of $Peti tokens will also gain benefits, such as voting rights for future collections, access to exclusive NFTs, and priority in our whitelist events.

Conservation Efforts

A core component of Petivrse is our dedication to conservation. By allocating a percentage of our revenue towards animal preservation projects, we ensure that every NFT purchased contributes to a greater cause. Our partners in the conservation space help us identify the most impactful initiatives, guaranteeing that our community's contributions make a real difference.

Conclusion

Petivrse is a platform that blends digital artistry, community engagement, and environmental responsibility. Our vision is to create a space where the celebration of pets goes hand in hand with the preservation of their natural habitats. Join us in this journey, as we launch our first collections and begin building a legacy that benefits animals and their admirers alike.
